++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells and heavy, blustery showers.

Today:
A dry start for many in the east, but showers already in the west will become more widespread through the day. These showers will be locally heavy, with a risk of hail and thunder. Feeling chilly in the strong winds. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Further heavy and possibly thundery showers will continue overnight, most frequent in the west and close to the coasts. Some eastern areas will become dry with good clear periods developing. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Monday:
Monday will be another day of sunny spells and scattered, locally heavy showers. However some more persistent, heavy rain and strong winds will spread into Pembrokeshire late in the day. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Heavy rain will give way to sunshine and showers on Tuesday. Windy, with coastal gales. Largely dry and bright on Wednesday. Sunshine on Thursday, following the clearance of overnight fog.
